| 3 | anonymous | I am abit on the fence with this curriculum. I think the children are abit young for this subject however I know the importance. |
| 4 | anonymous | Nope |
| 5 | anonymous | Certain areas should be covered at certain ages |
| 6 | anonymous | I don't agree on children as young as reception ect learning about sex education they do not understand or need to understand at such a young age. |
| 7 | anonymous | I WOULD LIKE TO KNOW WHEN STAFF WILL BE TALKING ABOUT THESE TOPICS TO MY CHILD. SO I AM ABLE TO RELATE AND COMMUNICATE WITH MY CHILD. |

| 10 | anonymous | Whilst I agree that it is important for children to understand relationships and all that they entail I don't agree that children under the age of 12 should be taught about sexual relationships. My children can ask me absolutely anything and know I will answer them honestly but I tailor my responses to their questions depending on their age (I have 4 children in different age groups) I strongly disagree that primary school children should be taught about sexual relations. |

7. Is there anything we are not covering that you think we need to address?

Following on from this questionnaire, to address the needs of the parents who would like more information on these topics, this message was sent out to all parents.

Following on from our Relationships, Sex and Health Education Questionnaire, some parents asked for more information. Here are two links to the providers that we use. Jigsaw provides our staff with the skills and ideas to teach the RSHE curriculum. The Big Talk comes into school to talk to our children about Growing Up Safe.

Sex Education Advice for Parents - Practical Help from Experts \(bigtalkeducation.co.uk\)

There is a link to a book that The Big Talk recommend for talking to your own children about these topics. We hope these documents are helpful alongside our RSHE Policy and Curriculum Coverage that was attached to the questionnaire but if you do have any more questions, please do not hesitate to ask.
